

LifeTec Medical Launches First Web Based Product Tracking System Designed for Patient Monitoring Accessories

LifeTec Medical announced today that it has launched the first ever web based product tracking system, designed solely for tracking the LifeTec range of patient monitoring accessories. For the first time, customers can implement the kind of quality audit trail previously restricted to capital equipment.

This links perfectly with the fact that all of our main cable products have individual serial numbers, and to our unique warranty offerings, which includes our ‘trust based’ commitment to having our warranties start when the products are put into clinical use, and NOT when they are shipped to the customers’ site.

LifeTec Medical’s Managing Director, Stuart Hildage, said;

“Our new web based product tracking system provides our customers with an extremely valuable tool to help control the deployment of patient monitoring accessories. We feel this system has the following benefits:

- Precise tracking of product location
- Accountability through named issuers and receivers
- Immediate visibility of warranty status
- Immediate visibility of products removed from service
- Audit trail to assess quality / durability of products used

This unique offering in just another example of how LifeTec is bringing innovation to this important arena”
